Technetics Group Announces Qualiseal® Technology Name Change

Harwood Heights, IL, August 3, 2022 – Effective immediately, Qualiseal® Technology, LLC is changing its name to Technetics Group Chicago, LLC. This name change reflects the completion of the Qualiseal® integration with Technetics Group, LLC. “With this change, we are highlighting the full combination of Qualiseal® Technology and Technetics Group, which exemplifies our commitment at Technetics Group to provide customized, highly-engineered sealing solutions for our aerospace and industrial customers” said Rob Stuebing, General Manager of Technetics Group Chicago. Technetics Group Chicago, LLC will remain a wholly owned subsidiary of EnPro Industries, Inc.

Customers associate the Qualiseal® Technology name with industry-leading quality and performance. “While the name of the company may be changing, Qualiseal® products will remain an integral part of Technetics’ product portfolio,” said John Guite, Vice President and General Manager for Technetics Group North America. “Customers will be pleased to be working with the same experienced team they have become accustomed to, and there are no changes to its staff as part of this integration.”

In addition, there are no changes to Qualiseal® product part numbers or drawings. All telephone contact information at the Harwood Heights, IL location remains unchanged. Emails will be transferred to the @technetics.com domain over time, and the @qualiseal.com domain will remain active for the time being.
